DESCRIPTION OF STRAWBERRIES

SENATOR DUNLAP. (Per.) Medium early. The best general purpose variety. There are more Dunlaps sold than all other strawberry plants together; adapted to all localities. The fruit is dark red with glossy finish, shading to a deep scarlet on the under side. The meat is a bright red all through and exceedingly juicy. It succeeds everywhere and with everybody—the new beginner as well as with the veteran grower—but should not be allowed to mat too quickly. For a medium-sized productive early to midseason berry you need not hesitate to plant Dunlap.

CHARLES I. Earliest berry to ripen. Good plant-maker; fruit large and firm. The big money in strawberry growing is usually made at the start of the season before the market is overstocked. Charles I ripens nearly a week before any other strawberry and is very productive, yielding more quarts of large fine looking berries than any other early variety. A strong fertilizer and a good grower. Berries large, regular in form, and of good color and quality. This valuable early strawberry continues to produce large, fine looking berries till the last picking.

GIBSON. (Per.) Medium late. The Michigan market berry. Has no superior. Dark red, firm, retains size and quality to the last berry. Berries are large and regular in shape, holding their size well to the end of the season. Flavor is neither sweet nor sour, but just right for canning. Extremely productive, in fact we know of no variety that will produce more quarts of berries per acre than the Gibson. A strong vigorous plant that withstands adverse conditions admirably. We recommend it and know you will not make any mistake in planting Gibson.

AROMA. Late. Large berry, good shipper, always bringing good price; extra fine plants. One of the most popular late varieties. Holds its size well throughout all the pickings. Berry is roundish—conical, smooth and perfect in form and of a beautiful bright glossy red in color; very firm and of high quality. Its rich aromatic flavor has suggested its name. The habit of spreading which this variety possesses opens the way for the sunlight to reach the crowns. The leaves are broad, clean and smooth and of dark green color.

PREMIER. (Per.) No early variety equals Premier; long season; produces heavy crop; deep red, high quality berries. Plants are large, have good root system. Most nursery men were over sold last year and had to return late orders. Order early.

EATON. Heavy bearer. Berries large, dark red, perfect in shape. Unusually firm and hardy and are therefore recommended for long distance market. A berry that holds its color.

BIG JOE CRAMPTON. (Per.) The high quality latest variety. The Big Joe was the latest berry on the market with commercial growers here last season. A good plant maker. The first berry on each stem is usually double or wedge shaped. Large, showy, one of the best sellers as they ripen after nearly all other kinds are gone. If you are looking for the most productive very late berry, plant the Big Joe Crampton. We have a good supply of plants. Order early.

NEW COOPER. The New Cooper is claimed to be the biggest berry grown. Plants extra large, if not largest. We paid $20.00 per thousand for plants to set four years ago. The plants are the largest we have ever seen. Berries are enormous in size, beautiful color, and deliciously sweet in flavor. Only about 50,000 plants and have reduced the price—so order now. Perfect flowers.

GLEN MARY. Strong, vigorous growing plants. The berries are large and prettily colored; always bring top prices. Heavy plant maker; can stand heavy soil.

POKOMOKE. Enormous bearer; mid-season. Berry stands long distance shipping well.

CHAMPION EVER-BEARING STRAWBERRY. The commercial everbearer. The originator, who lives in this locality, made a record of 5,632 quarts the first season on one acre which brought him $2,059.20. We have our prices reduced and you will make no mistake in ordering some of these if for no other reason than your own table use, during late summer and fall.

MASTODON EVER-BEARER. It's hard to describe all the good qualities of this new wonderful everbearer. Very large, beautiful color and hardy. Mastodon sold in late summer and fall in Chicago and other markets. Where they were introduced for $6.00 per sixteen quart crate. There is absolutely no better everbearing strawberry known. We were fortunate to secure a limited quantity of plants two years ago and have about 25,000 to sell. Order early, as we cannot expect to have enough to fill all our orders.
